

The nautilus is thought to be nature's most inspired design. Its two-layered shell gives it double protection from the elements... not unlike the two-part construction of its namesake, Georgia-Pacific Nautilus™ Wall Sheathing

Effective Protection. Less Installation Time.

Nautilus™ wall sheathing combines two proven products – OSB structural sheathing and building wrap – into an efficient sheathing solution that can help save you time and money. With building wrap laminated to the sheathing, Nautilus panels eliminate the additional step of installing a separate building wrap. And they provide protection from rain and moisture during the entire building cycle.

All You Need Is Your Framing Crew.

- Installs like typical OSB wall sheathing.
- The nailing guidelines on the OSB panel are visible through the building wrap.
- Overall, a faster and more efficient installation process than a two-step sheathing/building wrap installation.

Fewer Air Leaks. Greater Energy Efficiency.

Once your wall panels are up and the seams are taped with Nautilus™ seam tape, the structure is better protected from air leaks. That means improved energy efficiency for the homeowner.

Better Looking.

Our OSB wall sheathing product is more uniform and consistent than what you typically find with the installation of a separate building wrap. The water-resistive barrier is fully adhered to the panel, reducing the risk of wind damage. That's a better reflection on you and the quality of your work.

Warranted and Code-Compliant.

Nautilus™ sheathing carries a lifetime limited warranty against OSB substrate delamination for the original homeowner and a 90-day warranty against delamination of the building wrap from the OSB substrate for the builder. See complete warranty for details. Nautilus wall sheathing contains a water-resistive barrier component that meets the requirements of the International Building and Residential Code.
