

Edilcuoghi

Pietra Aniciana

Aniciana is the name that the ancient Romans used for basaltina stone, a lava stone that has always been popular for its original and elegant dark grey colour, which is very flexible in combinations. Consisting of through-body decorated porcelain tile, this product combines the aesthetics of natural stone with the advantages of porcelain tile and is also available in Beige and Light grey colours.

