RE-CREATING SALVAGED MATERIALS

Mabuno (ma - boo - no) stands for re-creating the already existing. Just released is The Mabuno Premier Line of Eco-Friendly Contemporary Furnishings. It is simplistic and innovative design applied to a vast variety of furnishings and interior decor. Each creation holds an in-depth narrative comprised of environmental awareness, a sense of history, and an oasis of original style within the modern world. Mabuno products emphasize the "life" in the objects one lives and works with.

JARRAH TABLE

Celebrates the grandeur of this wind fallen slab from Southern Australia. The geometric base provides necessary contrast to showcase the impressive surface, and the ingenious use of salvaged casters allow the table to be mobile. The 34 inch planter feature emphasizes new life in the piece.

SAN ELIJO SECTIONAL SOFA

The innovative combination of a whimsical floral installation and refined use of salvaged materials. The clean lines accentuate the magnificent quality of the reclaimed oak, while recycled aluminum supports are positioned perfectly for form and function. 100% organic cotton fabric is used to complete this oasis of comfort and style.

WALNUT COFFEE TABLE

One piece in a three part set that features salvaged walnut slab surfaces. The wood was discovered discarded in a rock quarry and was restored to pristine condition in the Mabuno studio. The base is made of recycled aluminum, which is polished to compliment the exquisite beauty of the organic slab. The end result is natural perfection balanced with a precise linear foundation.
