ENVIRONMENTAL RESPONSIBILITY

Bretford engineers and manufactures its products to provide dependable and environmentally safe operations. Bretford is constantly looking for ways to reduce the waste that it generates. Bretford utilizes a waste reduction team which meets consistently to look for new ways to reduce all wastes. Bretford would like you, the consumer, to be aware of how important a clean, safe environment is to us. Following is what Bretford is doing or has done to make our environment better.

- In 1998, Bretford elected to place itself in a new program that the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency has developed. This program is called the Emission Reduction Market System (ERMS) and pertains to companies which are in the Chicago region. This program asks that all participants make at least a 12% reduction in the amount of seasonal emissions emitted. This was accomplished in 1999.
- In 1985, Bretford was one of the first manufacturer's in the nation to switch from spray-on wet paint, high in VOC's, to electrostatic powder paint, eliminating all VOC's caused by painting.
- Bretford has incorporated a state of the art UV finishing line which replaces Bretford's conventional finishing line. Bretford anticipates a 60% reduction in the amount of VOC's emitted annually.

- Bretford uses a recycled solvent cleaning agent on its finishing lines. This same solvent is then recycled and used for a fuel blend.
- Bretford specifies the purchase of particle board that contains 40% recycled material and the majority of Bretford's wood scraps are sent off site to be ground and used for either horse and cattle bedding or in a fuel blend. The remaining wood scrap is processed through Bretford's wood boiler and is used to generate energy to heat our process boilers.
- Bretford purchases only "prime" steel for use in our products which typically consists of 25% to 35% recycled content. Excess scrap steel is used for our paint sample program or picked up by a vendor to be recycled again.

FINISH OPTIONS

FINISHES FOR LIBRARY FURNITURE

Because no two facilities are alike, Bretford can make each library a completely unique entity. Bretford Library Systems can be specified in several powder paint colors, laminates, and veneers.

Visit our website at www.bretford.com to view all of our finish options. You may order a finish brochure or samples right on-line. You may also contact Bretford's Customer Service Department to receive a finish brochure or finish samples.

WOOD FINISHES

Products are available in Oak, Cherry, Maple, and Sapeli finishes as indicated. All of Bretford's finishes are carefully selected for uniformity of color and grain.
