Color samples as shown may not be an exact product match. Dal-Tile Corporation explicitly disclaims any liability resulting from product selections that rely solely upon the color samples provided herein. Contact your Ahnzu Sales Consultant for actual product samples prior to selection.

Natural stone products inherently lack uniformity and are subject to variation in aesthetics (color, shade, finish, etc.) and performance (hardness, strength, slip resistance, etc.). Natural stone products do not meet minimum coefficient of friction thresholds recommended by safety standard setting organizations. No warranties, express or implied, are made regarding the information, recommendations and descriptions contained herein. Variation in shade, color, veining and finish is inherent in all stone products. Prior to installation, tile should be approved by the customer. No claims of shade or texture will be honored after installation.
