Harrington

Integrating performance with an elegant design language, Harrington® seating blends with interiors and architecture in virtually any office setting. Harrington has a contoured seat and back designed to fit varying physiques and an ergonomic design that allows easy and precise adjustment to accommodate personal preferences and changing postures throughout the workday. The chair reclines and locks in five tilt positions, as well as in the full upright position, with adjustable resistance while reclining. The waterfall seat pan reduces pressure on the back of knees and thighs, while optional loop arms support the arms and ease shoulders and neck.
